

As usual, Warren Buffet, Janet Yellen, and Tim Cook spent their weekend discussing top soil erosion. Explain which ideas do and do not seem reasonable to you.

“Top soil? Who care if it erodes. There's more soil underneath!”

“Top soil... well, you can make more which is great. But its not as if it is easily replaceable, so maybe there are some ways to prevent it from eroding or to replace it.”

“We have to protect and save every single last grain of top soil because once it is gone, we can never get it back. And that means that we simply will no longer be able to grow crops.”
