

As usual, Warren Buffet, Janet Yellen, and Tim Cook spent their weekend discussing gravity. Explain which ideas do and do not agree with. Feel free to draw diagrams to help explain your words

“Gravity pushes things down.”
~Warren Buffet

“Gravity pull things toward the center of each other. The more stuff something has, the more it pulls on other stuff. Also, even though Gravity pulls things directly toward each other's centers, there are other forces that can keep things from going directly toward each other.”

~Janet Yellen

“Gravity pulls things in circles, not in straight lines. That is why if you have a planet with a smaller mass than the sun, the planet gets pulled in a circle around the sun.”

~Tim Cook
